

The sampling clock matters for river transport a Same month often means different days b Typical sampling is monthly c Closer dates retain fewer river systems d Flow can change between sampling dates

